It was explained that the Council Plan performance was reported by theme against a basket of performance indicators agreed as part of the Council Plan 2013-16. At the half way stage through the year, 79% of the indicators were predicted to achieve the targets set, with the remaining measures indicating slippage against targets. This compared to 74% at the same period last year. Areas of good performance under each theme, together with key achievements, were highlighted to members; details of those areas that were not expected to achieve target were also provided along with proposed actions. A number of those areas were also the subject of regular reports to Cabinet, current scrutiny reviews, or incorporated into big ticket reviews.

There was a wide range of achievements and progress against the key council plan themes that were not captured within the basket of key performance indicators but were reported throughout the year in various reports to Cabinet, captured through press releases, Stockton News articles and various accolades awarded to the Council throughout the year.
