ESC 30/18 Scrutiny Review of Gambling

The Chairman of Adult Social Care and Health Select Committee presented Members and Officers with the final report for the Scrutiny Review of Gambling.

The review was instigated in order to assess how gambling and gambling related harms affected the residents of Stockton-On-Tees. A wide range of national and local organisations had provided evidence and guidance to inform the Committees work.

The main topics discussed were as follows;

- The main focus was 'at risk gambling' which described those gamblers that showed some signs of gambling but remained below the threshold of problem gambling, and 'problem gambling' which was typically defined as gambling to a degree that compromised, disrupted or damaged family, personal or recreational pursuits.

- A significant amount of funds were available in relation to providing services to screen and treat those suffering with drug and alcohol related problems in the borough, however no screening was undertaken into problem gambling. Following the review Citizen's Advice Bureau(CAB) had introduced a screening tool for gambling and were also receiving relevant training from Newport CAB and working with partner agencies.

- During the review the issue of gambling was referred to the Police and Crime Commissioner for Cleveland. The Committee was informed of the new Cleveland Divert Programme which was being introduced to divert individuals from the criminal justice system by addressing the causes of their re offending. Although the focus was initially aimed at those who had entered the justice system due to shoplifting, an assessment process was being designed which would include reference to debt and gambling.
- The Adult Social Care and Health Select Committee had taken evidence via video link from organisations based in London and Edinburgh and was the first Committee within the authority to do so.
- The Committees attention was brought to the eight recommendations the Adult Social Care and Health Select Committee had arrived at following the review, details of which were contained within the report.
- Questions were raised in relation to risk assessments undertaken by gambling establishments and at what level they were carried out i.e. by the local applicant or the head organisation. The Committee heard that during the Scrutiny Review of Gambling, a visit to a local casino had taken place where the measures taken to ensure responsible gambling at that particular establishment was taken as evidence and which indicated that vigorous training was given to staff members.
- Reference was made to recommendation 3 of the report which recommended that 'A Local Area profile should be introduced to identify areas of greater or specific risks of gambling-related harm within the Borough'.
- Discussion took place around on line gambling sites. Officers confirmed that those sites were blocked on the Council's public accessible computers.
- This was the first time the local authority had looked at the impact of gambling on resident's health.
- Due to the comprehensive work undertaken and its findings, other local authorities, agencies and organisations had shown interest and requests had been made that the information be shared. It was agreed that the final report would be shared with all interested parties.
- The report was to be presented to Cabinet at the November meeting.

The Chair of Adult Social Care and Health Select Committee Cllr Lisa Grainge thanked public health, licensing and scrutiny officers for their hard work during the review.

The Vice Chairman of the Executive Scrutiny Committee Cllr Sylvia Walmsley thanked the Adult Social Care and Health Select Committee for the report and a very well done Scrutiny Review.

- In relation to an initiative run by Cleveland Police called 'Park Smart', the Place Select Committee had reviewed publicity material from previous campaigns and were recommending that all Councillors be provided with text and images to use in their wards. Councillor Baldock undertook to extend this to include leaflets also.
- Some of the issues surrounding parking on verges were down to historical narrow residential roads which hadn't originally been designed to have as many cars per home as they had today.
- Cllr Baldock highlighted that there had been some excellent information sharing with Middlesbrough Borough Council in relation to how they were tackling the problem. This included writing to persistent offenders and requesting they pay for damage to grass verges.
