Ah Good Times...

Two spicy food fans are rushed to A&E after eating chicken wings covered in world's hottest chilli sauce but pub refuses to halt contest

A second man has been hospitalised - and left unable to pee - after a failed bid to win £10 in a pub chicken wing challenge involving the 'world's hottest chilli'.

Ethan Rawlinson, 25, was rushed to North Stockton-on-Tees Hospital in County Durham after entering the new contest being staged at the town's The George Pub and Grill.
