February 2026. The timeline for the final stages of the project included, the appointment of the most suitable provider which was awarded to Middlesbrough Council and TEWV, the production and sign off of the final report in November 2025, the mobilisation stage will commence between November 2025 and 1 February 2026 and the official opening was planned for 2 February 2026.

The Trust continued to meet with families throughout the process and most recently held a meeting on the 19 November to answer any questions from families seeking assurance about the service going forward.

As part of the ensuing discussion the following questions/comments were made:

- Members questioned if the service was open access for referrals, how it was advertised and was it oversubscribed. Members were informed that the service is open to everyone across the Tees Valley area however referrals are made via professional services for those patients with the most severe and complex needs, mainly through Continuing Health Care (CHC) referrals. The service is not oversubscribed, and there was additional capacity for additional patients and beds. The service works closely with those referral services to ensure it is understood how many potential residents were in the system to ensure strategic planning of future needs.
- Members sought assurance if emergency referrals would be allowed and was it a digital booking system with built in flexibility. Members were assured that the service could provide services for emergency referrals and the booking system did require additional development, however it was fit for purpose at present.
- Members queried the number of children in the system who would require support from the service once they turn 16 years old. Members were informed that the service continued to work with Children's Services and were aware of a potential 23 children who may transfer into the service by 2028.

It was RECOMMENDED that:

1. The update be noted; and,
2. Members be invited to an open day in January with the possibility of meeting families who utilise the service.

PALLIATIVE AND END-OF-LIFE CARE STRATEGY - DEVELOPMENT / IMPLEMENTATION

The Deputy Director of Commissioning for the Tees Valley Local delivery Team at North East and North Cumbria (NENC) Integrated Care Board (UCB) presented an update on the development and implementation of the ambitious palliative care and end of life strategy and framework which was co-designed as a result of working with partners in 2022-2023. The strategy included specialist care in the community which was quality assured across the Tees Valley to ensure consistency of delivery.

A key focus within the strategy was staff training to ensure considerate conversations were taking place to support families individual needs and wishes. The training included how to broach difficult conversations and it was rolled out to colleagues in all areas of health to give confidence to engage in palliative and end of life conversations.

The NENC ICB utilised a self-assessment tool at the beginning of the process and decided to monitor progress by undertaking it a second time, which evidenced significant improvements in all areas as a direct result of the implementation of the strategy. NENC ICB colleagues recognise however improvements could still be made and would continue to progress them.

As part of the ensuing discussion the following questions/comments were made:

- Members asked if the programme and training include how to engage with hard to reach groups, and how would those families know what service or programme is available to them. Members were informed that part of the training included opening up conversations about what does a good death look like, which would be different for each individual. The programme included working with more than one service, such as GP surgeries and district nurses to ensure that where possible an advanced care plan is established to support families through these difficult times.
- Members sought assurance regarding what the demand on the service was and were teams able to manage that demand. Members were assured that the palliative and end of life care services monitor who may need the service up to 12 months beforehand, enabling proactive conversations and plans to be put into action. The service was managing demand well, no patient needed to be turned away, they were meeting all timeframes for specialist care services which included a 24 hour turn around care.
- Members noted past exclusions of hospices within this vital work and sought assurance regarding partnership working. Members were assured that the hospices were included within discussions and welcomed along the journey to ensure that palliative care was a consistent framework and model care delivered across all services. All frameworks would continue to be reviewed to ensure continuous improvements were made.
- Members noted that bereavement services would benefit families after their loved one had passed away, and queried what was available. Members were informed that there were bereavement services available for families after their loved one had died and including access to mental health bereavement services for children and adults.

It was RECOMMENDED that:

1. The update be noted; and,
2. The full self-assessment and strategy with action plan be shared with the Committee.

34 UNIVERSITY HOSPITAL TEES - STRATEGY UPDATE

The Deputy Chief Executive and Chief Strategy Officer for University Hospital Tees (UHT) Foundation Trust (FT) presented a UHT strategy update as a follow up from the initial presentation given a year ago. Since January 2025 the UHT Group was developed from South Tees Foundation NHS Trust and North Tees Foundation NHS Trust to form the combined UHT FT Trust Group with a revised UHT Group Clinical Strategy which has progressed rapidly over the course of the year.

The rationale behind the proposed service change was a culmination of 20 years of system led reviews which identified four areas for concern which require urgent future proofing and sustainability as follows:

- To address long standing issues in some services relating to resilience in staffing.
- To address the demands of an aging population which includes delivery services closer to home.
- To address the aging estate particularly North Tees Hospital which is beyond its economic life expectancy: and,
- The need to move to a different model to deliver a step change in efficiency and productivity.

The Caring Better Together Strategy was presented which included five strategic objectives, three pillars of reform and five enablers all of which the UHT FT would be measures against and held accountable. Six areas for potential clinical changes included:

- Community Services
- Women's and Children's Services
- Urgent and Emergency Care
- Medicine
- Surgery and Anaesthetics
- Tertiary and Specialist

These changes would be substantial and therefore would be completed in phases which be planned up to 2030 and beyond. The phases include a series of testing and learning, ensuring a consistently high quality of services across the group are delivered and reforming services for the next generation.

The Assistant Director for Group Development at UHT gave assurances to Members that the engagement process would follow national guidelines including a Strategic Outline Case for funding due to the interdependency with estates, both processes will follow in parallel.

Thursday, 11 December 2025

Engagement had commenced with Healthwatch partners ensuring members of the public were consulted very early within the process. The engagement plan sets out clear details on how external and internal; stakeholders and partner organisations would be consulted including health scrutiny committees. The engagement process will commence up to winter 2026/2027 when the decision making business case and agreement will be presented to NHS Englands.

Finally, UHT Officers hoped the Committee could see the scale of the ambition which was a once in a generation opportunity to make changes and a real difference across the region.

As part of the ensuing discussion the following questions/comments were made:

- Members referred to recently established diagnostic centres noting the lack of consultants available to deliver services, and sought assurance if it would be rectified and lessons learned going forward. Members were advised that this service was a prime example of the development of a new delivery model, which was still undergoing change.
- Members sought clarification regarding the proposal for a women's and children's clinical service noting the nearest service was based in Newcastle, which was a huge travel ask for residents in East Cleveland, particularly via public transport. Members were informed that initial exploration included a site at James Cook University Hospital and within Primary Care Trusts.
- Members questioned the vision for the North Tees Hospital, querying whether it was to redevelop the site or would there be a more radical plan. Members were informed that the current hospital is beyond its lifespan, therefore initial thinking includes a new build with modern facilities and services.
- Members referred to current pressures in hospitals regarding the lack of available beds therefore triage was taking place in corridors, and sought assurance how this would be addressed. Members were informed that as part of the strategy hospitals could be planned with more available beds, however, with an aging population with more respiratory, frailty and dementia conditions, all of which pose a risk in hospital of contracting infections. Therefore, listening to feedback confirmed that patients, and their families, would welcome more availability of community services and nurses to attend to patients in the home. This different model of care was being piloted in areas and evaluations were so far positive. Members noted positive outcomes from the reablement services whose work enabled 78% of its patients to avoid going back into - hospital after receiving reablement care.

- Members noted a lack of progress with digital systems; having been previously informed internal systems were separate and did not communicate between one another. Members were informed that current systems required modernisation and digitalisation development and it would be a priority within the new strategy. There are potential developments for patient AI systems and AI delivery of care systems which needs to be harnessed properly to support positive progress across all services.
- Members strongly urged health colleagues to ensure transportation and travel routes be a high priority when planning services, especially over different, multiple community locations, to ensure extensive consultation is undertaken with parents noting the Healthwatch survey feedback was quite limited and were respondents able to drive or reliant on public transport when stating they would be happy to travel further for a quicker appointment time. Members were assured that travel links and transportation would be a priority within the consultation and planning processes and would take away an action to further analyse the Healthwatch transport survey. Members further suggested cross analysis with the did not attend register to ascertain if transport issues were the cause for non-attendance.
- Members noted that the regional transport arrangements were a devolved responsibility of the Tees Valley Combined Authority who have recently consulted with individual authorities to devise their next transport strategy. Therefore, health colleagues should ensure consultation was undertaken.

Members thanked health colleagues for presenting the strategy and consultation prior to the start of the process and requested an update be presented to the committee in June or July. Committee Members were informed that health colleagues offered to present at individual authority health scrutiny committees or members briefings, should they be invited.

It was RECOMMENDED that:

1. The information in the proposed consultation and strategy outline be noted; and,
2. The Chief Strategy Officer to further analyse the Healthwatch patients survey to understand if respondents could drive or only access public transport and to cross reference answers against the did not show lists.
3. Health colleagues to present an update to the committee in June or July.

The Public Health Consultant for Tees, Esk and Wear Valley (TEWV) NHS Foundation Trust (FT) presented the Health Inequalities update for the Tees Valley region and the approaches being taken to address the inequalities working with partner organisations. The approaches shared were backed up by a high-level framework and a detailed action plan which would be shared with Members.

Thursday, 11 December 2025

It was TEWVs aspiration to utilise data better to inform future and strategic planning of services. It is planned to undertake more formal reviews of services to report back to Governors and Scrutiny Committees to be transparent and help accountable.

The Foundation Trust worked with a service who carried out a poverty proofing audit and reported back highlighting key areas of focus such as financial hardship which directly impacts residents' ability to attend appointments. Digital exclusion was a focus for the Trust however the poverty proofing audit highlighted that many families preferred to be contacted by email, in contradiction to the belief that many families struggle to access information and appointment in this way.

Examples of best practice will be systematically shared across the Trust to ensure colleagues also learn from positive examples of good working practices. Members were presented with two case studies giving examples of positive partnership working to look at an individual's circumstances holistically, often focusing on multiple issues at once.

As part of the ensuing discussion the following questions/comments were made:

- Members queried what actions were being taken to address race and ethnic minority inequalities. Members were informed that training sessions had been delivered to many staff regarding culture of care for race and equality across the Trust. Actions plans have been established with specific actions for service areas to focus upon to inform a more considered delivery of practice.
- Members sought assurance regarding how training for staff would be monitored and evaluated? Members were informed that the Trust is working to establish a baseline of all staff skills to plan strategically where training needs to be delivered. This training would then be monitored and evaluated through data returns and most importantly patient surveys.

It was RECOMMENDED that:

1. The information in the update be noted, and
2. The detailed action plan to be circulated with Members.

36 WORK PROGRAMME 2025/26

Members reviewed and NOTED the Work Programme.

37 ANY OTHER ITEMS WHICH THE CHAIR CONSIDERS URGENT

Thursday, 11 December 2025

The Chair APPROVED for an urgent item to be included regarding future Work Programme items.

The following items were recommended to be included within the Work Programme for 2026/27:

1. Low Level Needs
